

Somedays Story

When was the last time you said to yourself 'Someday, I want to... '? Like us, you probably have your dreams. Dreams you hope one day will come true. This is how Somedays was born. We dreamt about a place of our own. A place of peace where we can slow down and enjoy each other. A place where the traditions of great foods, wines and beers, served in an atmosphere of warmth and authentic personality, can be truly experienced and enjoyed.

In creating this place we asked ourselves a simple question: Why are there not more places like this? And how can WE deliver a truly authentic world-class experience in taste? So we built a small team of people at Somedays, who passionately believe that great taste, good food and drinks and authentic personal hospitality, can make the world a better place.

We realized that in our modern world we all go so fast. As the world grows smaller with the speed of technology, travel, and work, people can become numb to true experiences. Our time, and how we use it, has become more precious and important than ever. We need places where we feel welcomed to slow down, to experience community, to encounter new and wonderful things and to learn and grow in the things that touch our souls.

Armed with this knowledge, we set out to create a place like that, without sacrificing quality for expedience. A place where the feel, and the experience that we love so much about great dining comes through in everything we do. Somedays is our dream that comes true. We are very proud to select and serve the finest foods, wines and beers from all over the world. And it is so much fun! We built a place that will make you smile and leave you searching for excuses to come back again and again.

We invite you to our table, to EAT, DRINK and DREAM with us.
