1. 2023 Property Reappraisals - Franklin County Auditor's Office

2023-0093

2023 Property Reappraisal Overview Materials - Franklin County Auditor's Office

Monica Moran with the Franklin County Auditor's Office thanked the Council for having her. She stated the goal in her presentation is to update City Council on the 2023 property reappraisals. Every six years county auditors are required by law to do a full reappraisal. Every three years in between they do a triennial update. In 2020, they did an update. This year, they are reassessing every property, every parcel, within Franklin County. Large value increases are expected, which will be communicated with every property owner across Franklin County. During this process, the office looks at recent home sales in the neighborhood, neighborhood data, and the exterior of properties. A separate website through the Franklin County Auditor's website called "Know Your Home Value" has been set up. It includes resources for property owners. A common question is, "What will happen, and when?" Currently, there is a timeline of July/August for homeowners to receive their property value via mail. A "sticker shock" is expected, which is the purpose of the advance notice. If a property owner disagrees with the assessment, they can schedule a time to speak with the appraisal team in-person or virtually. In October, values will be finalized, and by December, the final property values will be sent to homeowners. Moran stated that most Franklin County property owners will see value increases. Most people want to know if their taxes will go up. Moran cited a "perfect storm" of events, including demand for property, population growth, and lack of affordable housing, which combined may cause a value increase of about thirty-five percent on average. The 2020 triennial update saw about a twenty percent increase. For homeowners, this is a significant property value increase over time. Franklin County is not alone in this. Moran shared a chart of other counties, ranging from a twenty percent increase to a forty-three percent increase. Moran stated that taxes will likely go up, though value and taxes are not a one-to-one ratio. An increase in property value does not indicate an equal increase in taxes. A tax projection tool is being developed, which will help homeowners calculate this number. In 2020, when there was an average twenty percent increase in value, there was an average 7.8% increase in taxes. Depending on ballot issues, voters will have the final say in what taxing districts look like. Homeowners can check their current home data on the "Real Estate" section of the Franklin County Auditor's website. If information is inaccurate, requests for changes can be submitted on the website. Additional information can be found on the Franklin County Auditor's website, such as frequently asked questions and links for tax resources.

President Renner asked about the review process: is there a resolution during that process; how long does it take to provide a resolution? Moran replied that all resolutions are done in October. If the issue is still unresolved, homeowners may go to the Board of Revision.

Councilmember Schnetzer asked what the technical difference between the 2020 review and the 2023 review is. Moran replied that the triennial review is done with sales data only, and not the in-person, visual site visit.

Councilmember McGregor asked for the slides to be sent; Moran confirmed that the Clerk has a copy.

2. Gahanna Branch Updates - Columbus Metropolitan Library

2023-0097

CML - Gahanna Branch Updates and Programming Opportunities
5.15.2023

Columbus Metropolitan Library's CEO Patrick Losinski provided updates on the Gahanna Branch. The new branch was opened on March 4th, which was also the sesquicentennial anniversary of the library. Four thousand people attended the opening event and seventy thousand people have visited since March 4th. One thousand two hundred new library cards have been issued and more than 2,100 reading buddy sessions have been scheduled for school children. Story times are generally anticipated to have twenty to thirty children, but now sixty to seventy are showing up. Losinski drew council members' attention to a map he provided, showing that people from all over the area, not just Gahanna, are regularly visiting the library. He highlighted the importance of this fact because it correlates with business as well; patrons are visiting local businesses while in the area to visit the library.

Losinski shared some history about the library. The first Columbus Metropolitan Library was opened in the city hall on March 4, 1873. A former library CEO visited Andrew Carnegie in 1901, who committed $200,000 for the construction of the first library branch. That library opened in 1907, with local demand for branches beginning in the 1930s and 40s. The Gahanna branch opened in 1969.

Upcoming events include the first ever book festival on July 15-16 at the main library branch. One hundred thirty-five national authors are coming in. Central Ohio libraries and bookstores will be participating, not just CML. The goal is to celebrate the literary ecosystem; information science is strong in the community. Other events include a sesquicentennial author series, an enhanced eight-week summer reading challenge, and library passports. The idea of the passports is to encourage residents to visit all twenty-three libraries throughout Franklin County.

Losinski acknowledged other services that have grown in the library. One focus is out of school time for students, which includes preschool, after school, weekends, and summer. Program offerings are made to teachers and book collections are delivered to schools. For adults, job searches, digital equity, and social services are growing. Ohio State interns have been providing social services for adults. LinkedIn Learning is another program that is growing. There are 17,000 how-to videos, which guide users on topics such as Microsoft Office and finance documents. Potential connection to Shull Park is exciting; Losinski cited other parks in the area that have CML connections. Losinski mentioned that the library will probably be on the ballot this November. The last time this happened was 13 years ago, in 2010.

Councilmember Padova commented on her family's participation in story time and complimented the library's ability to conduct such a wonderful event. She thanked Mr. Losinski, who commended the library staff's abilities.

Councilmember Bowers reiterated Padova's comments and asked how Council can be good partners to the library. Mr. Losinski stated that continuing to be the partners that they have been so far and highlighted some of the ways in which the city has been helpful. He added that communicating with the community to promote the library's resources and programs is another way Council can help.

G. ORDINANCES FOR INTRODUCTION, WAIVER & EMERGENCY ADOPTION:

ORD-0044-2023 AN ORDINANCE TO AMEND ORD-0078-2022 ESTABLISHING THE SALARIES FOR PERSONNEL OF THE CITY OF GAHANNA FOR THE PERIOD JANUARY 1, 2023, THROUGH DECEMBER 31, 2023, WAIVING SECOND READING, AND DECLARING AN EMERGENCY

Councilmember Bowers invited directors Vollmer and Wybensinger to give a presentation regarding new positions and how are to be funded. The positions include Supervisor Customer Service, Manager Public Service, Manager Planning, and Management Analyst - Police Records. Supervisor - Customer Service is funded by the proprietary funds: 50% Water (6510), 50% Sewer (6610). Manager of Public Service is split four ways between General Fund (1010), Stormwater (6310), Water (6510), and Sewer (6610). Manager of Planning and Management Analyst are fully funded by the General Fund. The grand total is $474,162, with $283,472 from the general fund, $21,506 from the stormwater fund, $84,592 from the water and sewer funds. Vollmer went over the impact to fund balance, noting that the new positions account for about 1% of the unencumbered fund balance for 2023. Because of funds being added back to the General Fund (about $500,000), Vollmer said there is no anticipated actual use of the general fund monies. The increase next year is expected to be about 1%.

Councilmember Bowers asked for clarification as to whether the expense will actually be lower than what is shown on the slide. Vollmer confirmed that no actual use of the General Fund is anticipated this year because of projected revenue. Bowers asked if next year salary costs of roughly $283,000 will be added to the General Fund. Vollmer stated that it would be about a 1% increase to the General Fund next year, which includes some reclassifications she discussed at the last meeting. Bowers asked if there are any updates on income or revenue projections for the first quarter. It was stated the Q1 budget report is on the website and Director Bury would do a mid-year review in July.

Councilmember Bowers asked for additional description of the positions. Vollmer started with the Management Analyst position in the Division of Police. The request for this position stems partly from revisions in Marsy's Law, which added requirements for redaction and restriction to victim records, the processing of records, records management, and centralization of records. The position would work with the Council's records team. There is a lot of video and audio redaction requirements. Currently, this task is being fulfilled by multiple police department staff. The Manager of Planning would oversee the day-to-day operations of the department, providing direct support to employees and coordinating the customer service facing employees in the department of planning and code enforcement. Currently, all employees in Planning report to Director Blackford. This would allow for succession planning, handle the rental registration program oversight, and provide action on decision points. A job audit was conducted. Currently, decision points for that program are carried out by Director Blackford or Ken Fultz. The new position would add a layer for employees. The Customer Service Supervisor would help with enhanced oversight and consistency of public interactions to improve customer service, reimplementation of meter replacement program, direct support of the water rate calculations and projections, supervisory-level support, and training for the utility billing specialists. Additionally, a customer-service model is expected in the new building, and having this position hired and onboarded will be helpful in that transition. The Manager of Public Service was fulfilled by a retired part-time employee and will now be a full-time position. The duties include assisting with aligning the operations of fleet, streets, and utilities; to oversee pavement repairs from snow and ice operations, assist with emergency operations of the city; assist with the CIP program from the Dept. of Public Service; realigning fleet purchases to ensure timely delivery of police cruisers and other fleet; assist with food waste and sustainability programs; succession planning; traffic signal management; and lead for utility management. The EPA added an additional requirement, and the city must have a wastewater collections class 2 operator license. The manager would be responsible for this license and the record for the water distribution class 2. This position is also responsible for consumer confidence report, water quality, managing public contracts, and managing customer service operations.

Councilmember Bowers asked Vollmer to clarify why the request is coming mid-year rather than later for next year. Vollmer explained that when there are vacancies the staff looks at the positions to see how they can be realigned, or jobs can be shifted. During the budget discussion last fall it was noted that a mid-year staffing request would be made. Vacancies and promotions occurred, and the transition to 825 Tech Center will be here soon, which are both prompting the staffing request. Vollmer also noted that it takes 60-90 days to hire and onboard new staff members, and it is best for this to happen before the transition to the new facility. Additionally, Director Bury has been working on the ACFR, which has a deadline of May 31.

Councilmember Bowers noted that a Q1 report was not available yet. She said that when going through budget discussions last year, there was projected spenddown of unreserved fund balance, even with the then-existing staffing positions being created. She added that being in May, there has not been adequate time to see how staffing is working yet, and additional spending is being created. She appreciated that there is optimism with revenue, but she had concerns from the perspective of the spenddown on the fund balance by creating new positions.

Councilmember Schnetzer asked Bowers if it would be helpful to request a snapshot from staff, including Director Bury, and then bring the discussion back to the table. Bowers clarified if he meant to table the motion. Schnetzer agreed that bringing it back for further discussion at the next meeting. Council is looking at data given in February as of December 31, 2022. In mid-May, the data is about 5.5 months old. Schnetzer asked for data that is more recent, not necessarily audited or a full report, but simply updated data to show what the expenditures are. He acknowledged the time that it takes to hire, adding that the expenditure will not be the expected $300,000 today, but eventually it will be. Senior Deputy Director Wybensing offered to follow up with Director Bury to find out when the presentation of the Q1 report will be shared.

Councilmember Angelou asked what the overall delay and subsequent implications will be of tabling the motion until further discussion can happen. Vollmer replied that it will delay every aspect by about three weeks - posting, hiring, onboarding. It becomes a bit more difficult to train because many of the positions will work directly with directors. None of the positions are currently posted.

President Renner asked again what the impact is of waiting three weeks to post the position. Vollmer said a three-week or thirty days in hiring, so delaying the start date. She added that there are similar positions posted throughout Ohio right now, so when recruiting the City may miss out on qualified individuals to fill those positions. Renner asked if there are operational delays. Director Shultz stated that for the public service position, that department is particularly challenged right now because of the promotion of an employee. One of the reasons for the adjustment is the reassessment of a vacant position and servicing the customers, how can it be realigned for both right now and in the future.

Councilmember Angelou asked about the police position. The police chief stated that the PD currently has one records person. Westerville, which is similarly sized, has eight, including a manager and a supervisor. Whitehall has four, plus two part-time. Reynoldsburg has four. Similarly positioned in terms of staff and calls for service. Two issues right now: Marsy's Law updates were passed April 6th. The additional redactions that must be made to records must be kept up with. The office also needs to continue learning the implications of Marsy's Law. For example, if there is a burglary, there is an automatic belief that a victim wants their information redacted. If insurance is involved, this can pose a challenge for the insurance agency to get the information for the claim because the report is subject to redaction. The second piece, is a replacement of the records management system approved by Council. Having someone on board day one from that process is critical. Selection and scoring of the vendor will happen in early June and having a staff member integrated into that process is critical.

Director Schultz discussed the operations manager side. That position is critical on the EPA reporting and compliance reporting filed by the end of the year. Having an operator of record is critical to water and sanitary sewer. The supervisor of utility division is leaving at the end of the week. This area needs addressed immediately. Schultz feels the financial aspect was presented accurately and there would be no dipping into the fund reserve of $20 million.

Councilmember Bowers asked a follow-up. Are the EPA regulations new or changed? Shultz said it is both, and the person handling this is leaving. Vollmer added that the requirement to have a class 2 is a new requirement, and the city has no one currently with that licensure.

President Renner said that he is struggling to understand exactly what some members of Council are requesting. Is it that they want to see more evidence that Q1 followed along the projections? His understanding was that Ms. Vollmer said that revenues were coming in higher. Vollmer clarified that 2022 came in higher than projected and Q1 revenue projections are still being finalized. Schnetzer added that he is asking for a snapshot of current finances.

A motion was made by Schnetzer, seconded by Weaver, that the Ordinance be referred to Committee of the Whole for further discussion on May 22, 2023, and tabled until June 5, 2023. The motion carried by the following vote:

Yes: 4 - Bowers, Padova, Schnetzer and Weaver

No: 3 - Angelou, McGregor and Renner
