I. COUNCIL COMMENT.

Angelou - stated that what we do here as a council is really rubber meets the road kind of work, not partisan politics; doesn't matter who gets credit, but rather that things get done and that they work together. Being president and vice president is a tough job; has been president six times during her 33 years as a Council Member; wished them the best of luck.

McGregor - wished everyone a Happy New Year; welcomed back Renner and Schnetzer; welcomed Padova and Weaver.

Weaver - thanked the community for their support, his family, and volunteers during campaigning. Was born and raised in Gahanna, in Ward 4, of which he now represents; believes in duty to safeguard finances, improve the city's infrastructure, and to invest in the future. Gahanna embodies the spirit of giving; thanked those who volunteered to serve on boards and commissions.

Padova - stated that she is honored to be here tonight to serve as a Council Member; is grateful for all the support; we all want to see Gahanna be successful even if we have different ways of getting there.

Schnetzer - stated that he is happy to hear that the Mayor has an ambitious plan for the year ahead; welcomed the newest members; is happy to support them as he has been there before; looking forward to the new year.

Bowers - stated that as we begin a new chapter, we hope to build on what we have accomplished and evaluate how to improve on it; will use this opportunity to work towards shared values; we have a new chapter to write together; looking forward to the re-imagining that Mayor Jadwin mentioned.

Renner - stated that it is emotional and sacred to take the oath of office; serves all residents, not just those who voted for him; thanked his family; is a sacrifice to serve the city because of missing moments with family; thanked colleagues for lessons learned and relationships built; there is a transition between campaigning and serving; is privileged to be the president; will treat the governance as the governance is supposed to be; Council acts as one not as individuals.
