SUGGESTED AMENDMENT TO CITY OF GAHANNA CHARTER

Send or deliver to: Charter Review Commission Office of the Clerk of Council 200 S. Hamilton Rd. Gahanna, Ohio 43230 Michael Blackford, Department of Planning (name) 200 S. Hamilton Rd (address) PLEASE USE ONE "SUGGESTED AMENDMENT TO CITY OF GAHANNA CHARTER" FORM FOR EACH SECTION OF THE CITY OF GAHANNA CHARTER YOU WOULD LIKE TO SEE AMENDED. SECTION 11.03 TITLE Planning Commission Powers and Duties AMENDMENT TO READ AS FOLLOWS: See attrached redline. REASON(S) FOR CHANGE: (use additional sheets if necessary for explanation): Many processes that permit the construction of land development no longer involve Planning Commission (e.g., residential building permits, sign permits, tree removal, fence permits, etc.). This section of the Charter, the construction of land development for longer involve Planning Commission (e.g., residential building permits, riee removal, fence permits, etc.). This section of the Charter, Planning Commission for lose to review, approve, and/or recommend the rules that adopt the standards for how development is to be built and where, and it is the role of city staff to implement those rules on applications and permits.	Deadline for submission:	****
(name) 200 S Hamilton Rd (address) PLEASE USE ONE "SUGGESTED AMENDMENT TO CITY OF GAHANNA CHARTER" FORM FOR EACH SECTION OF THE CITY OF GAHANNA CHARTER YOU WOULD LIKE TO SEE AMENDED. SECTION 11.03 TITLE Planning Commission Powers and Duties AMENDMENT TO READ AS FOLLOWS: See attached redline. REASON(S) FOR CHANGE: (use additional sheets if necessary for explanation): Many processes that permit the construction of land development no longer involve Planning Commission (e.g., residential building permits, sign permits, tree removal, fence permits, etc). This section of the Charter, written 25 years ago, is written too broadly and many references no longer apply. For example, current language can be read to say that any request for the physical development of land within the City requires their review. Hower, Planning Commission's role is to review, approve, and/or recommend the rules that adopt the standards for how development is to be built and where, and it is the role of city staff to implement those rules on applications and permits.	Office of the Clerk of Council 200 S. Hamilton Rd.
200 S Hamilton Rd (address) PLEASE USE ONE "SUGGESTED AMENDMENT TO CITY OF GAHANNA CHARTER" FORM FOR EACH SECTION OF THE CITY OF GAHANNA CHARTER YOU WOULD LIKE TO SEE AMENDED. SECTION 11.03 TITLE Planning Commission Powers and Duties AMENDMENT TO READ AS FOLLOWS: See attached redline. REASON(S) FOR CHANGE: (use additional sheets if necessary for explanation): Many processes that permit the construction of land development no longer involve Planning Commission (e.g., residential building permits, sign permits, tree removal, fence permits, etc). This section of the Charter, written 25 years ago, is written too broadly and many references no longer apply. For example, current language can be read to say that any request for the physical development of land within the City requires their review. However, Planning Commission's role is to review, approve, and/or recommend the rules that adopt the standards for how development is to be built and where, and it is the role of city staff to implement those rules on applications and permits. 	Michael Blackford, Depar	tment of Planning
REASON(S) FOR CHANGE: (use additional sheets if necessary for explanation): Many processes that permit the construction of land development no longer involve Planning Commission (e.g., residential building permits, sign permits, tree removal, fence permits, etc.). This section of the Charter, writen 25 years ago, is written too broadly and many references no longer apply. For example, current language can be read to say that any request for the physical development of land within the City requires their review. However, Planning Commission's role is to review, approve, and/or recommend the rules that adopt the standards for how development is to be built and where, and it is the role of city staff to implement those rules on applications and permits. Approved: Yes No Date Date	` '	a Dd
SECTION OF THE CITY OF GAHANNA CHARTER YOU WOULD LIKE TO SEE AMENDED. SECTION 11.03 TITLE Planning Commission Powers and Duties AMENDMENT TO READ AS FOLLOWS: See attached redline. REASON(S) FOR CHANGE: (use additional sheets if necessary for explanation): Many processes that permit the construction of land development no longer involve Planning Commission (e.g., residential building permits, sign permits, tree removal, fence permits, etc). This section of the Charter, written 25 years ago, is written too broadly and many references no longer apply. For example, current language can be read to say that any request for the physical development of land within the City requires their review. However, Planning Commission's role is to review, approve, and/or recommend the rules that adopt the standards for how development is to be built and where, and it is the role of city staff to implement those rules on applications and permits. 		I Ku
AMENDMENT TO READ AS FOLLOWS: See attached redline. REASON(S) FOR CHANGE: (use additional sheets if necessary for explanation): Many processes that permit the construction of land development no longer involve Planning Commission (e.g., residential building permits, sign permits, tree removal, fence permits, etc.). This section of the Charter, written 25 years ago, is written too broadly and many references no longer apply. For example, current language can be read to say that any request for the physical development of land within the City requires their review. However, Planning Commission's role is to review, approve, and/or recommend the rules that adopt the standards for how development is to be built and where, and it is the role of city staff to implement those rules on applications and permits. ***********************************
REASON(S) FOR CHANGE: (use additional sheets if necessary for explanation): Many processes that permit the construction of land development no longer involve Planning Commission (e.g., residential building permits, sign permits, tree removal, fence permits, etc). This section of the Charter, written 25 years ago, is written too broadly and many references no longer apply. For example, current language can be read to say that any request for the physical development of land within the City requires their review. However, Planning Commission's role is to review, approve, and/or recommend the rules that adopt the standards for how development is to be built and where, and it is the role of city staff to implement those rules on applications and permits. 	SECTION	11.03 TITLE	Planning Commission	on Powers and Duties
REASON(S) FOR CHANGE: (use additional sheets if necessary for explanation): Many processes that permit the construction of land development no longer involve Planning Commission (e.g., residential building permits, sign permits, tree removal, fence permits, etc). This section of the Charter, written 25 years ago, is written too broadly and many references no longer apply. For example, current language can be read to say that any request for the physical development of land within the City requires their review. However, Planning Commission's role is to review, approve, and/or recommend the rules that adopt the standards for how development is to be built and where, and it is the role of city staff to implement those rules on applications and permits. 	AMENDMENT TO REA	D AS FOLLOWS:
Many processes that permit the construction of land development no longer involve Planning Commission (e.g., residential building permits, sign permits, tree removal, fence permits, etc). This section of the Charter, written 25 years ago, is written too broadly and many references no longer apply. For example, current language can be read to say that any request for the physical development of land within the City requires their review. However, Planning Commission's role is to review, approve, and/or recommend the rules that adopt the standards for how development is to be built and where, and it is the role of city staff to implement those rules on applications and permits. 	See attached redline.
Many processes that permit the construction of land development no longer involve Planning Commission (e.g., residential building permits, sign permits, tree removal, fence permits, etc). This section of the Charter, written 25 years ago, is written too broadly and many references no longer apply. For example, current language can be read to say that any request for the physical development of land within the City requires their review. However, Planning Commission's role is to review, approve, and/or recommend the rules that adopt the standards for how development is to be built and where, and it is the role of city staff to implement those rules on applications and permits. ***********************************
Many processes that permit the construction of land development no longer involve Planning Commission (e.g., residential building permits, sign permits, tree removal, fence permits, etc). This section of the Charter, written 25 years ago, is written too broadly and many references no longer apply. For example, current language can be read to say that any request for the physical development of land within the City requires their review. However, Planning Commission's role is to review, approve, and/or recommend the rules that adopt the standards for how development is to be built and where, and it is the role of city staff to implement those rules on applications and permits. ***********************************
Many processes that permit the construction of land development no longer involve Planning Commission (e.g., residential building permits, sign permits, tree removal, fence permits, etc). This section of the Charter, written 25 years ago, is written too broadly and many references no longer apply. For example, current language can be read to say that any request for the physical development of land within the City requires their review. However, Planning Commission's role is to review, approve, and/or recommend the rules that adopt the standards for how development is to be built and where, and it is the role of city staff to implement those rules on applications and permits. ***********************************
Many processes that permit the construction of land development no longer involve Planning Commission (e.g., residential building permits, sign permits, tree removal, fence permits, etc). This section of the Charter, written 25 years ago, is written too broadly and many references no longer apply. For example, current language can be read to say that any request for the physical development of land within the City requires their review. However, Planning Commission's role is to review, approve, and/or recommend the rules that adopt the standards for how development is to be built and where, and it is the role of city staff to implement those rules on applications and permits. ***********************************
Many processes that permit the construction of land development no longer involve Planning Commission (e.g., residential building permits, sign permits, tree removal, fence permits, etc). This section of the Charter, written 25 years ago, is written too broadly and many references no longer apply. For example, current language can be read to say that any request for the physical development of land within the City requires their review. However, Planning Commission's role is to review, approve, and/or recommend the rules that adopt the standards for how development is to be built and where, and it is the role of city staff to implement those rules on applications and permits. ***********************************
Many processes that permit the construction of land development no longer involve Planning Commission (e.g., residential building permits, sign permits, tree removal, fence permits, etc). This section of the Charter, written 25 years ago, is written too broadly and many references no longer apply. For example, current language can be read to say that any request for the physical development of land within the City requires their review. However, Planning Commission's role is to review, approve, and/or recommend the rules that adopt the standards for how development is to be built and where, and it is the role of city staff to implement those rules on applications and permits. ***********************************
Many processes that permit the construction of land development no longer involve Planning Commission (e.g., residential building permits, sign permits, tree removal, fence permits, etc). This section of the Charter, written 25 years ago, is written too broadly and many references no longer apply. For example, current language can be read to say that any request for the physical development of land within the City requires their review. However, Planning Commission's role is to review, approve, and/or recommend the rules that adopt the standards for how development is to be built and where, and it is the role of city staff to implement those rules on applications and permits. ***********************************
Many processes that permit the construction of land development no longer involve Planning Commission (e.g., residential building permits, sign permits, tree removal, fence permits, etc). This section of the Charter, written 25 years ago, is written too broadly and many references no longer apply. For example, current language can be read to say that any request for the physical development of land within the City requires their review. However, Planning Commission's role is to review, approve, and/or recommend the rules that adopt the standards for how development is to be built and where, and it is the role of city staff to implement those rules on applications and permits. ***********************************
residential building permits, sign permits, tree removal, fence permits, etc). This section of the Charter, written 25 years ago, is written too broadly and many references no longer apply. For example, current language can be read to say that any request for the physical development of land within the City requires their review. However, Planning Commission's role is to review, approve, and/or recommend the rules that adopt the standards for how development is to be built and where, and it is the role of city staff to implement those rules on applications and permits. 	REASON(S) FOR CHAN	GE: (use additional sheets if n	ecessary for explanation):
 Commission use only Rec'd by Commission Approved: YesNoDate	residential building permi years ago, is written too be say that any request for the Commission's role is to re-	ts, sign permits, tree removal, it roadly and many references no e physical development of land eview, approve, and/or recomment	fence permits, etc). This se longer apply. For example d within the City requires the aend the rules that adopt the	ction of the Charter, written 25 e, current language can be read to heir review. However, Planning e standards for how development
	***	*********	********	*********
Suggested Amendment No Disapproved: YesNoDate				